Get Registered

Members of the Republican County Committee should see to it that all Republicans in their respective districts are registered on or before Sept. 7th. In the matter of voters who voted on age last year it is especially important that they be registered and assessed or they cannot vote. Don't neglect this important matter.

The money octopus is still rampant. Western sections are confronted with another freight-car famine.

The Brooklyn Eagle, a sterling Democrat, announces that Bryan has been dethroned and that Bryanism is folding up its tent.

AGUINALDO, who, in his recent proclamation, spoke of the Democratic party in the United States as his principal ally, finds no occasion to change his views on that subject.

THE aggregate of the world's gold production, last year falls short only about $5,000,000 of being an even $300,000,000, which is more than double the amount produced in 1892.

SOME of the Democratic editors want to use the tariff as an issue to kill off 16 to 1, but any attempt to do this will be worse than the disease. The people are pretty well satisfied with the result of a Republican tariff.

WITH Bryanism feeding on Populism and calamity, it would seem that Kansas with her 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 bushel corn crop, worth in cash at least $100,000,000, cannot be considered even among the "possible" States for the candidate.

THE South is enjoying its share of the country's increased prosperity. Manufacturers in that section have increased 60 per cent. faster during the past quarter of 1899 than during the corresponding quarter last year. The industries already in the South are all doing well, many enlarging their plants and many new ones going on, or being projected. The Bryan argument that the hum of industry could only come through free silver coinage is being disproved by strong facts in the section where Bryanism has had its strongest foothold.

THUS far the attempts to make Ingersoll's spirit do fake duty at spiritualistic seances have decidedly petered out. Mrs. Cora V. Richmond promptly fixed on a time to conjure up the spirit of the departed agnostic, but the famous spook failed to show up. Probably "the line was in use." The real trouble is in getting any of the communicating spirits to talk like Ingersoll. Spooks with his ability as a talker are evidently scarce and hard to engage. Maybe he isn't in proper sympathy with the mediums. When he was at Lil y Dale some years ago, he said he was as much a disbeliever in so-called spirit phenomena and manifestations as he was in the miracles narrated by Moses. —Franklin Spectator.

SENATOR PETTIGREW is quoted as saying: "This government should recall every soldier in the Philippines immediately, apologize to the world for the error we have made, and turn the islands over to the native government." He follows this up by saying "This 'civilizing war' talk is all sham. Any people can maintain as good a government as they have a right to have, and you cannot give them a better one." This statement is quite gallant on the part of the Senator, but if carried to its full fruition might prove quite embarrassing to us "squatters." Evidently the Senator does not stop to think that under his rule there would be a serious exodus from this country, with profuse apologies to the aborigines of North America.

THE Iowa Republicans in their State convention a few days ago spoke in no uncertain voice on the money question when constructing their platform. They emphatically declared that "The monetary standard of this country and of the commercial world is gold. The permanence of this standard must be assured congressional legislation, giving to it the validity of public law. All other money must be kept at a parity with gold." On the question of trusts they were no less outspoken, declaring that "industry and commerce should be left free to pursue their method according to the natural laws of the world, but when the business aggregations known as trusts prove hurtful to the people they must be restrained by national laws, and, if need be, abolished.

THE Republican State Convention meets in Harrisburg to-morrow, Thursday, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Supreme Judge, Superior Judge and State Treasurer. Lieut. Colonel James E. Barnett, of Washington county, who is now with his regiment, the gallant Tenth at San Francisco, and will soon come East with the boys, will undoubtedly be the unanimous choice of the convention for Treasurer. Judge Adams of Philadelphia, having the unanimous endorsement of the delegation from his city, will likely be the nominee for Superior Judge. The question of the Supreme Judgeship is not so easily determined, but J. Hoy Brown of Lancaster seems at this time to have the most followers, while Judge Archibald of Lackawanna and Judge Morrison of McKean have both many supporters.

Party Records as to Trusts.

The Democratic attempt to picture McKinley and the Republican party as the promoters of trusts and Bryan and the Democracy as their destroyers is false to its root. In the McKinley tariff law of 1890 was incorporated a clause which made trusts a punishable crime. This bill was created into a law by a vote of 194 to 142 in the House, and 40 to 28 in the Senate. Every vote in the House but two for this bill was Republican. Every vote in the House against this bill was Democratic. Every vote for the bill in the Senate was Republican; every vote against it was Democratic.

Not only were the party records on the trust question thus established, but it was added to by the next House and Senate, in which the Democrats had the complete control. The clause which William McKinley had in his famous tariff bill dealing so harshly with the trusts was swept away and a weaker one substituted in the Wilson bill. William Jennings Bryan was a member of the ways and means committee of the House, which adopted the Wilson bill; he not only worked for it, but voted for it. The records of the two men can not be questioned, neither can the wording and purposes of the two trust clauses in the respective laws. They are given below:

McKinley Law. Every contract, combination in the form of a trust or otherwise, or contract is hereby declared illegal. (Any person engaging in such combination was to be deemed guilty and on conviction any article from any foreign country not to exceed $5,000 or to be imprisoned more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.)

Wilson-Bryan Law. Every combination, trust agreement or contract is hereby declared to be contrary to the public policy, illegal and void, where the same is made by or between two or more corporations, either of whom is engaged in importing any article from any foreign country into the United States.

William McKinley and the Republican party stand on the Records. They made trusts or trade combinations, either in the United States or between importers, a punishable offense, prescribing heavy fines, imprisonment or both. Bryan, Wilson and the Democratic party not only repealed this law, but substituted for it one that only made them illegal to importers, and with no penalties attached. The hue and the cry will deceive no one.

Give the Law a Fair Test. The action of Judge Taylor, in determining to enforce the law permitting county authorities to set convicts to work on the public roads, affords the people of Pennsylvania another opportunity to fully test the merits of that law.

The law itself is correct in theory and adequate in scope. In theory it provides that the counties shall receive some substantial benefit from the "gentlemen" whom they convict of this offense or that, instead of supporting them in a mild sort of genteel idleness. That is common sense of a common sense order. In scope the law applies to all convicts and confines their labor to the county in which the offense was committed and which must therefore pay for their maintenance during the period of imprisonment. Even with respect to the jealousies which spring up always between the various portions of the same county, the provisions of the act are wise. Briefly, they are to the effect that the work done shall be equitably distributed, no more than five miles of work being legally done on any road until a like mileage of labor is done on all main roads leading to the county seats.

What the people of Pennsylvania are interested in knowing, touching this question may briefly be stated. They want first to know what system the counties will adopt to prevent the prisoners from escaping; second, the cost of the system as compared with the former method of keeping convicts in the county jails; third, the effect, upon the convicts, of actual labor as contrasted with the pseudo-labor of those jails; and fourth, the comparative value of the work done upon the roads themselves. This test may now fairly be made in Washington county, and in the public interest, Judge Taylor is urged to make the test severe. —Phila. Inquirer.

GOVERNOR STONE has issued his proclamation to the people of Pennsylvania asking them to send promptly such money and supplies as they can well spare to the sufferers from the hurricane in Porto Rico. The people of the Keystone State have always responded promptly and liberally to the call for charity, and the Governor's proclamation will meet with a prompt and hearty response. Governor Stone himself started the ball rolling with a contribution of $100.

QUITE frequently reports have been sent out from different parts of Pennsylvania of the discovery of valuable mines of gold or silver and the latest comes from Bedford county, where an analysis of ore found in the Poe mountains is said to show "$1,800 worth of gold, and $2,500 worth of pure silver to the ton." This beats the Klondike, says an exchange, and if it were true the Keystone State ought soon to take front rank in the production of the precious metals. Of all the great strikes heretofore reported none has "panned out" in sufficient quantity to pay the cost of production and this last one is not at all likely to prove an exception. Pennsylvania will continue to lead the States in the value of her mineral products, but gold and silver will not be very prominent among them, notwithstanding the wonderful gold mines of Bedford county.
